

Subject:- Starting of USG thorax service

Date:13.09.2021 Panchkula

Government of Haryana through Department of Medical Education and Research has started the service of USG Thorax at BPS GMC (W) Khanpur Kalan, Sonapat under the able guidance of Dr. Anand Agrawal, MD in the Department of Respiratory Medicine. BPS GMC(W) College is a state of art institution located in District Sonapat. State Govt. is committed to provide tertiary level care facilities across the state and also in rural areas. It has been learnt from the past experience that for treatment whenever a family goes to city the cost of treatment is too much and often families ends up in debt trap. With such facilities in the Govt. Medical Colleges anyone can avail the facility and that too without any cost. All treatment in medical colleges is provided free and closer to home also. The commitment of the state govt. is reflected with the continuous efforts of MER Department to expand the infrastructure in medical colleges. Liquid medical oxygen tanks with 10KL capacity each are also being provided in each medical college. The current modality though Ultra Sonography provides the treatment for many lung diseases such as fluid collection in the lungs, Acute Respiratory Distress Syndrome (ARDS). The modality is very precise in finding out the disease and provides the treatment on the bed side itself.
